Captain Daniel Coogan serves as Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) chairman of the Central Air Safety Committee at Delta Air Lines. He also serves as the ALPA National Director of Safety Information and Analysis Programs. He earned a B.S. degree in air commerce / flight technology from Florida Institute of Technology in 1981 and a M.S. degree in aviation safety from the University of Central Missouri in 2016. Past work includes being a member of two NTSB accident investigations and a member of the Aviation Safety Action Program (ASAP) Event Review Committee. He also has served as the ASAP ALPA primary at Delta Air Lines. He is currently a captain on the A-330.